Ashland News Notes

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Ashland, Va., October 9.—Rev. John E. Coleman, for the past three years rector of St. James Episcopal Church, preached his farewell sermon this morning to a very large congregation. He took as his text, Rev. xxi. 1.

Coleman leaves Wednesday to take up his work at Suffolk. During his stay here he has endeavored himself not only to his flock, but to the citizens of Ashland, who have learned to admire and appreciate his many good qualities, both as minister and citizen.

His going will be a matter of deep regret. For the present the pulpit will be filled Sunday nights by Rev. John Moncreur, of Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ball Hutchings, of Richmond, are the guests of Mrs. C. C. Bridges.

Miss Rebecca Kennedy, of New York.

Winchester, Va., October 9.—Whether a witness who, by reason of his poverty, has been unable to furnish bail, his appearance at trial when wanted, is entitled to pay as a witness during the time he has been compelled to spend in jail, is a question which has just been put to Judge T. W. Harrison, of the Circuit Court.

When Overstreet and Stephens and killed Philip Peyton at Stephens City, in July, Jasper and James Lavender were summoned as witnesses before Justice J. C. Baker, and being unable to procure bail for their appearance at the trial they were committed to jail to await the action of the grand jury in the case of Mansfield. They remained in jail from July until this week, when the case of Mansfield was disposed of, the prisoner being sent to the reform school and the witnesses liberated.

The Lavenders claimed to the court that they were entitled to the regular witness fees for every day since they were incarcerated, on the ground that constructively they were witnesses for the State, that they were held in jail on account of their poverty in that they could not give the necessary bail, that they had committed no crime; that they were now penniless; their former positions now taken by others, and that they were being turned out of prison suffering from their long confinement and had no work in sight.

Prosecuting Attorney Larick agreed with Attorney James P. Reardon, counsel for the witnesses, that they were entitled to witness fees of 50 cents per day for each day they had been incarcerated. Judge Harrison has indicated his readiness to certify to the Auditor of Public Accounts to Richmond, but at the same time expressed doubts as to whether the Auditor could find a law by which the fees can be paid, pointing out that the men could not have been witnesses during the summer vacation of court, as the court was not then in session. It is likely the next Legislature will be asked to make provisions for the payment of witness fees in such cases. It being claimed that the present law works a hardship upon a poor man unable to procure bail or obtain a writ of habeas corpus.

Charles Hannas, living near Rome, has been fined $10 and costs for refusing to permit Clifford McDonald and Cecil Sanders to inspect his orchard in Sherman district. This was the first case to come up in Hampshire county proper the fruit tree inspection law, and the minimum fine was imposed. Hannas ordered the inspectors away, saying he could inspect his own orchard.

Real estate continues to boom in the suburbs of Winchester, which are building up rapidly. A day or two ago the George Kremer heirs decided to open several new streets through the Fair Grounds of the Shenandoah Valley Agricultural Society, and ready applications are being made for lots by those who expect to build handsome homes.

Postmaster Charles Kezel, of Harrisonburg, does not attach much importance to charges of pernicious political activity, which have recently been preferred against him, and which are now being investigated by a post-office inspector. Postmaster Kezel says that nearly every time a convention is held in the county or district, some one trumpets up charges against him. He has always been exonerated by the department at Washington.

John R. Hockman, a prominent Republican politician of Shenandoah county, is gathering several barrels of choice apples from his orchard, which he will send to President Taft with his compliments.

Congressman James Hay, of Madison, who has been spending the past week campaigning in the Shenandoah Valley, has addressed large and enthusiastic crowds at all the places in which he spoke, and it was a significant occurrence that many Republican leaders were present. They declared that they were utterly disgusted with the manner in which the shooting war had been conducted, and that the Republican leaders of the leaders are either Federal officeholders or mad because they have been unable to find favor with the administration. Hundreds of Republicans have declared they will support Mr. Hay, as they recognize in him a representative who attends to his duties, and that he is a safe man.

Some of the assistant postmasters in the Seventh Congressional District office, the recent class, it is said, do not like the recent executive order promulgated by President Taft, in which he let it be known that these officers must step down and out of active politics and give more time and attention to their official duties, for which they are paid to look after. These young men, it is claimed, have been entirely too active in attempting to run political conventions, and the people, as a result, indorse the stand taken by President Taft that the assistant postmasters must earn their salaries or get out of the service.

Dr. George Washington Overmeyer, of Raymond, Wash., made a trip all the way from the extreme Northwest this week for the purpose of touring the Civil War battlefields in the vicinity of Winchester, and also to collect relics and rare books of the already large collection. He owns about 1,400 separate volumes relating to the Civil War period, and is a staunch admirer of the Confederate soldier.

What promises to be one of the greatest political meetings and barbecues held in the history of Hampshire county, Va., will take place at 10 o'clock next Saturday, and extensive preparations are being made for the event by the Democratic campaign committee, under whose auspices it will be held. The speakers will be William G. Brown, of the State, Congressman George C. Sturge, opposing the Democrats are organizing clubs, and they expect to elect Mr. Brown by a great majority. It is said that Mr. Sturge is a stand-patter and allied with Speaker Cannon's interests is said to be working against him.

Rain has been falling at intervals since early Friday morning and though it has interfered to some extent with the large army of apple-pickers now working in every section of Frederick county, the farmers say the rain is worth its weight in gold, agriculturally speaking. There has been very little rain for the past two months, and all kinds of vegetation has been damaged, and some crops ruined. These farmers, having commercial apple orchards, however, are not complaining much.

I have been a noted invalid for 20 years, for I had nearly every disease that my sex is heir to. But since using Cardui I have been steadily improving. Though now 46 years old, I am in better health than I have been in 20 years.

I give Cardui the credit for it, and feel it my duty to inform you what Cardui has done for me.

The reason why Cardui is so exceptionally successful in relieving women's troubles, after other treatments fail, is that it is a woman's tonic—a strengthening remedy for women, made especially for women, from ingredients that act specifically on the womanly organs and help nature to build up the womanly constitution. Not a strong, mineral mixture, but a mild vegetable remedy, that cannot harm either young or old.

Your druggist will tell you that Cardui is just the remedy that you should try. Will you do so?

He also directed the board of directors of Mount Hebron Cemetery Association to make extensive improvements in the cemetery, and to have the big iron fence painted at his expense.

Mr. Rouse's parents and his former members of the family now deceased, are interred in the Rouse mausoleum, which occupies a large space in the cemetery, overlooking the Shenandoah Valley for many miles.

As soon as City Sergeant J. W. Taylor, of Winchester, died suddenly on Thursday afternoon, there was a rush of applicants for his position, and many prominent citizens have condemned such proceedings, which were practiced at the time of the death of the late Sheriff, Clark H. Purcell. Judge W. M. Atkinson, of the Corporation Court, who is to name Sergeant Taylor's successor, announced that he could entertain no thought of considering a successor until some time after the late sergeant's funeral.

WOUND PROBABLY FATAL. Robert Jamison, shot by Silas Starr, Cause of Trouble Not Known. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Lynchburg, Va., October 9.—Measure reports were received here last night of the shooting and probably fatal wounding near the Six-Mile Bridge, of Robert Jamison, who is alleged to have been shot by Silas Starr.

Fears of additional trouble following the shooting were groundless, as the negro who did the shooting has not been disturbed. Jamison was taken to his home at Concord to-day. His wound is not dangerous.

about the failure of smaller crops, as they will reap handsome profits from their apples. There has been much difficulty experienced in obtaining competent labor in the work of picking and packing the fruit, and in a number of instances expert packers have been brought from other sections of the country.

There is much activity in the vicinity of the freight warehouses and apple-shipping sheds in the vicinity of Winchester at present. The Cumberland Valley and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroads have large sheds in the local yards, and at points within a mile where farmers can deliver their harvest, and this fall the fruit is now being sent out by the train loads, extra trains being run every evening in order to prevent congestion.

Members of the Acker-Keezel Republican faction in Rockingham county are enjoying a great laugh at the expense of Captain John Paul, who is running for Congress on another factional ticket, this fall, having been brought about by Captain Paul, receiving a circular letter from Washington, stating that he had been appointed a referee in the Seventh Congressional District. His friends concluded that the latter had been ousted as a referee. It turns out that Postmaster-General Hitchcock has simply appointed more Federal referees all over the country, and that the circular which happened to be added to the list, which in no way disqualified Mr. Acker.

ANOTHER EFFORT TO GET BILL THROUGH

Believed Congress Will Authorize Additional Judge in Fourth Circuit.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Washington, October 9.—From authority which is believed to be trustworthy, it has just been learned here that one of the first things Congress will do when it meets in December for the short session will be to pass a bill providing for the appointment of an additional Federal judge for the fourth circuit. This circuit comprises the States of Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Maryland. Such a bill was before Congress last winter and passed the Senate. When it got to the House, however, it died in the Judiciary Committee.
